

Call for papers for issues 20 and 21 of Nueva Revista de Lenguas Extranjeras

The Nueva Revista de Lenguas Extranjeras (NRLE), published by the Instituto de Lenguas Extranjeras, Facultad de Filosofía y Letras, Universidad Nacional de Cuyo, invites contributions in the form of articles and reviews for issues 20 and 21. The first deadline for submission of contributions is October 31st and the second one November 30th.

At present the journal publishes original articles in Spanish, French, English or Portuguese in the areas of Literature and Culture, Linguistics, Foreign Language Teaching and Acquisition and Foreign Language Pedagogy. The journal is a valuable means of disseminating literary, cultural, linguistic and pedagogic knowledge relevant to the teaching and learning of foreign languages in general and to particular aspects of the languages represented in it.

The journal seeks to address the interests of readers (teachers and researchers) who are specialists in the different areas of interest indicated above and attempts to favor connections among researchers and teachers working on different languages (and the associated cultures), learned as second or foreign languages.

The articles are evaluated by specialists in the different disciplines on a double blind basis. The journal is included in the Latindex catalogue. The stylesheet and the template to be used for the submission of articles and reviews can be downloaded from this page. They were both designed by Prof. Dr. Castel, head of the institute between 2012 and 2016, for various publications he edited as leading editor. Please contact us if you need assistance with the template or if you have questions relating to the stylesheet or the type of articles published by the journal.

The articles must be submitted via mail under the following address ilyce@ffyl.uncu.edu.ar

The journal accepts contributions from FL teachers and researchers from local, nation-wide and foreign institutions and we would therefore be grateful if you could resend this call to colleagues in other national and international institutions that might be interested in publishing their work in the journal.